

To create a new layer that is the composite of a number of layers while leaving the original layers intact

- Make visible only those layers that you want to composite into a new flattened layer
- Create a new layer and leave it active
- Holding down the Control and Alt keys enter the Layers pulldown menu and select Merge Visible
- The new layer now contains the flattened composite of the layers that were visible leaving the original layers intact.